

Mr Anthony Rubinstein

23 February 1983

Dear Anthony,

The enclosed copy of part of my interview with Ralph Boulware shows that, contrary to what I told you previously, my account of his childhood friendship with prostitutes is not wholly justified by the source material. However he has read and accepted this gloss so I should like to keep it.

I have written to him asking for a release. Should he not give me one I will alter the proofs of my book to bring my description into line with his original statement. Is this all right?

Yours,

Ken Follett.